Deptford High School's Allied Health

Students from Deptford High School's Allied Health Program were not stopped by COVID-19. They were still able to complete their Medical Assistant Certification Exam through the American Medical Certification Association. The American Medical Certification Association was able to provide a Live Remote Proctor, so that the students could attempt the exam in the comfort of their own home.

Students were prepared for this exam throughout the last 3 years at Deptford High School and through partnerships with Rowan College of South Jersey and Camden County College. They took classes such as Anatomy and Physiology, Medical Terminology, Biomedical Ethics, and Patient Care. They were also able to earn dual college credit for these courses to jump-start their college careers.

Deptford High School is happy to announce that we have had a 100% success rate on the Medical Assistant Certification Exam this spring. Students' certifications will last for 2 years and through continuing credits, they will be able to renew their certification. These students are now able to start working in the medical field full time or gain valuable experiences while attending college.

Delsea Regional High School Business Mentors

APPEL FARM ART & MUSIC CENTER
Annabelle Massi Internship
CTE Career Cluster: Education and Training

A special thank you to Appel Farm Arts & Music Campus, Zumwalt Accounting Services, and Metal Structures Inc. for mentoring our inaugural group of SLE senior interns at Delsea Regional High School. The district launched the Structured Learning Experience program this fall to facilitate career awareness, exploration, and preparation in conjunction with local businesses and our Career and Technical Education department.

Annabelle F. Massi utilized her artistic ability under guidance from several mentors at Appel Farms to assist in classroom instruction for elementary and middle school children.

METAL STRUCTURES INC.
Josh Marshall Internship
CTE Career Cluster: Architecture & Construction

Leah Clemenson (above) worked under the supervision of L. Marie Zumwalt to improve her ability and understanding of accounting principles and software.

Josh Marshall's guidance from Martin Murray launched his career as an estimator for a manufacturing and engineering firm.

These experiences would not be possible without the willingness of businesses to invest in the future workforce. If your business is interested in providing opportunities for future interns we would love to hear from you.

Youth Education and Career Center

The Youth Education and Career Center (YECC) is a program developed by the Workforce Development Board for out of school youth between the ages of 16 to 24. The youth not only participate in the high school equivalency program but also in work and vocational experiences.

There were twenty out of school youth that received their High School Equivalency (HSE) Diploma by participating in the Youth Education and Career Center (YECC). The youth that participated in the program face tough challenges in achieving their first step on the career ladder - getting the high school diploma. Though the diploma ceremony was canceled because of COVID-19, small ceremonies at each of the graduates' homes were delivered by the staff of the YECC.

"We want to congratulate these youth for a job well done, and to remind them that their journey is just beginning - to keep going despite the chaos," Heather Simmons, Freeholder Liaison to the Workforce Development Board.
